Presenting Fourteen Kats And a Canary

by Pat Schweitzer

During the cold winter months of the second semester of last year, eight Kohl Hall boys who liked swing music decided to start a dance band. They enjoyed little jam sessions, and thought the rest of the students would like to see a real band on the campus. That was the beginning of the Kampus Kats.

The eight boys, Ned Freeman, Willie Staub, Bill Fischer, now at Camp Pickett, Va., Joe Zurlo, Frank Zurlo, who is now in the Navy, Doug Dauterman, Rex Riedge, and Norm Knisely, expanded their organization, got some music, and worked hard. By the time spring rolled around they were able to play for some of the dances here and several off-campus affairs.

This year the band is even bigger and better. It includes 13 pieces, a leader, two vocalists, and a business manager. The sax section includes Dick Manahan, Joe Zurlo, Lou LaVan, and Andy Hotsko; brass, Rex Riedge, Nate Brenner, Bob Speck, Printy Arthur, and Tom Huss; rhythm, Willie Staub, Doug Dauterman, and Norm Knisely. Ned Freeman swings the stick, and Steve Stavrides takes care of the financial end.

Eddie Johnson, a transfer from Miami, is the new contralto vocalist, and Johnny Allen, another transfer student, swings out on the jump tunes.

The boys feel that the band is much better this year, as they get new tunes each week, and have regular rehearsals. The brass section is more fully developed by the addition of two new trombone players, Prinney Arthur and Tom Huss. Each one of them plays because he really likes it, not because the financial remuneration is large.

So far the boys have appeared approximately 12 times, and have broadcast on the University program over WFIN once. They started their out-of-town season last Saturday night at Findlay, but find it increasingly hard to get transportation for off-campus engagements. They will be willing to play for any campus organization, benefit performances included, if that organization will get in touch with Steve Stavrides far enough ahead of time.

What next semester will bring, none of them can tell, but the band may have to break up if too many of the boys are called into service.

273 Failures---But Grades Are Better Than Expected

One out of every five students enrolled at the University had at least one unsatisfactory grade for the first nine weeks classes, a survey revealed today.

On the whole, however, it was proved that these grades just given out were superior to those of the second semester of last year. This is remarkable inasmuch as second semester grades are always of a higher quality than first semester ones.

In general, the men of the university received the poorest grades. This may be partially explained by the fact that the men in our colleges today have a great many more things to think of than they ever have had previously. This is especially true of students now facing the draft, and those students now enlisted in reserve branches of the service who are under constant strain to keep their averages up to the high standards required by the reserve officials.

Another reason why the nine week estimates meant so much this semester is the fact that the campus sororities now have a new rushing system effect. Those women who made grades at nine weeks will have the opportunity of joining one of the eight sororities at the university, while those who did not make the grade will find it necessary to wait until the second nine weeks estimates are posted.

Two hundred and seventy three letters were sent to parents of students with one or more failing grades, Registrar John Bunn stated. Each of these letters contained a photostatic record of the students grades and a letter explaining the grading system now in effect at the university.

However, the deans of the three colleges all agreed that the esti-

Air Corps Checks On Estimates

The Army Air Corps is the only reserve branch, among those open to college men, that is checking on nine week estimates, Registrar John Bunn stated today.

The Army, Navy, and Marine Reserves are not looking at nine week grades, but it is very likely that these branches will ask universities to send in the grades of all enlisted reserve men at semesters, Mr. Bunn continued.

"It must be kept in mind that nine week estimates are only estimates and not actual grades. These estimates are not counted in on the final point average of the student, and are only an indication of what sort of work the student has been doing."

Debaters Take Top Honors In Midwest Meet At Toledo

Two Bowling Green Teams Go Undelected; Third Team Wins Three Out Of Five

Bowling Green debaters today held the mythical championship of the Midwest.

They won 13 of the 15 contests in which they participated Friday and Saturday at the third annual Midwest Debating Tournament at the University of Toledo.

Two of the three Bowling Green teams were undefeated in five rounds and the third local group, which prepared to debate affirmatively but switched to the negative at the request of tournament officials, was downed in only two of its five verbal clashes.

No team from any of the eight other colleges finished without a champion in men's extemporaneous speaking, team which tied for second in sweepstakes at the national P.K.D. tournament, and a debater rated superior in the national P.K.D. tournament, and a debater rated superior in the national P.K.D. men's tournament.

Teams in the Toledo tournament represented John Carroll University, Denison University, Capital University, Central Michigan College, University of Detroit, Marietta College, University of Toledo, Findlay College, and Bowling Green State University.

At the outset of the tournament, Kuhl and Miesle participated in a demonstration debate to show those unfamiliar with the system being used in the tournament the direct clash plan. They were chosen to replace a South Carolina team which was unable to make the trip.

Next inter-collegiate verbal encounter scheduled for Bowling Green students is the state women's tournament December 11-12 at Capital University in Columbus.

setback. Second best was a University of Detroit group with only one loss.

The Bowling Green teams were:

1. Mildred Geiger, Marilyn Smith, and Virginia Keller—affirmative and undefeated.
2. Larry Kuhl and Lee Miesle—negative and undefeated.
3. Robert Morgan, Marvin Pearce, and Robert Thomas—negative and winner of three out of five.

The question was: "Resolved, that the United Nations should establish a federal union with powers to tax and regulate international commerce, maintain police powers, to settle international disputes, enforce all settlements, and to provide for admission of other nations which accept the principles of the union."

Sectional rating for debating proficiency was given to six students, four of them from Bowling Green. Misses Geiger and Smith and Messrs. Kuhl and Miesle will receive the certificates.

The debate coaches did most of the judging.

Harold M. Jordan, new debate coach at the University, came here this fall from the faculty of Sioux Falls (S.D.) College, where in six years he coached a national champion in women's inter-state oratory, national Pi Kappa Delta

Radio Players 'Off The Air' During Recess

The regular University broadcasts over WFIN will not be heard tonight and Friday because of the Thanksgiving recess, according to Prof. Upton Palmer. However, the programs will be resumed Monday at 5:30 when Professor Palmer will interview Dr. William Hoppes, specialist in remedial readings.

On Wednesday, the Men's Glee Club will present a program under the direction of Prof. Leon Fauley.

"Religion on the Campus" was discussed by representatives of the various religious organizations on the campus, on Monday's program. Louis Biery, Jr., president of the YMCA, was chairman for the group which included Eleanor Carpenter, YWCA; Evelyn McClelland, Kappa Phi; Tom Crowley, Newman Club; Bud Fisher, Otterbein Fellowship; and Jack Lawrence, Westminster Club. Allan Bechtel and Richard Box were in charge.

Dr. Walter A. Zaugg, professor of education and director of the Bureau of Appointments, will attend in Chicago Friday and Saturday the convention of the National Institutional Teacher Placement Association.

Art Department Inaugurates Series Of Displays In Gym

First in a never-ending series of displays is on exhibit in the new art department quarters on the top floor of the Men's Gymnasium.

An exhibit of 30 color etchings by Leon R. Pescheret will be left in the department office the remainder of November and an exhibit of crafts owned by faculty members and townspeople for an indefinite period.

Mr. Pescheret, whose studio is at Whitewater, Wis., is a London-born of French parents. He has studied in Chicago, Belgium, and England and for two consecutive years has won a Chicago Society of Etchers prize.

Best times for the public to see the displays is between 3 and 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday, according to Miss Grace Wills, chairman of the art department.

The November meeting of the local branch of the American Association of University Women will be at 8 p.m. Friday in the art headquarters of the University.

Exhibits at the University, Miss Wills said, are to be of three forms:

1. An occasional traveling exhibit, usually in the office of the art department.
2. Exhibits of crafts contributed by townspeople and faculty members, in display cases in the corridors.
3. Exhibits of student work, in classrooms.

In the current craft exhibit are textiles, basketry, metal craft, and wood carving representing Mexicans, American Indians, and Scandinavians and loaned by Mrs. J. C. Lincoln, Miss Helen Henderson, Miss Madge Johnson, Miss Emilie Hartman, and Miss Wills.

The new art quarters fill all five rooms on the top floor of the Men's Gymnasium. One is for the office, another for storeroom and workshop, and the three classrooms for painting studio, sculpture, and craft studio and design and lecture room. Windows in all rooms have curtains to regulate light.

All-Campus Show Set For Jan. 22-23

"Falling Leaves" is the name of the first independently sponsored all campus musical comedy to be presented at the University, according to Bob Crowell, publicity manager.

The theme of the show, which will be January 22 and 23, in the auditorium, centers around a typical campus. College traditions including serenades and a homecoming game have been incorporated in the plot.

"The show is entirely original," Crowell said yesterday. The musical scores have been composed by Olga Sonkoly, freshman from Elyria. Ann Murray is writing the book.

The general committee consists of Elmer Brown; James (Pepper) Martin, dance routines; Phil Miles, sets; Dorothy Ramsey, tickets; and Bob Crowell, publicity.

Faculty Members Will Apply For Army Commissions

Eight faculty members signed applications for commissions in the Army last week when Captains Divine and Fox of the Army Procurement Office were at the University. The captains came to recruit men for teaching work in the Army. Men between 35 and 60 years of age, not subject to 1-A classification, are eligible. The eight faculty members have yet to pass several tests before they will finally be accepted by the Army.

Civilian Defense Coordinators Are Named For Campus

The second meeting of the civilian defense organization on campus was held last Wednesday night. The meeting was conducted by Sid Lance, head of civilian defense in Bowling Green.

Meetings will be held weekly until further notice, Max Ihrig, chief coordinator for the University, has announced.

Arm bands and certificates will be issued to those students who complete the course, Ihrig said, and added that over 100 students are taking part in the program. He stressed the importance of other students cooperating to the fullest extent.

Classes Dismissed At Noon Today

Thanksgiving recess at Bowling Green State University will extend from noon today until Monday morning.

Wednesday morning classes are being held as usual, with no shortening of the periods. Classes are to be resumed at 8 a.m. Monday.

The Christmas recess is to begin at 4 p.m. Friday, December 18, and end at 8 a.m. Monday, January 4.

Dr. Newburger Heads B. G. Juvenile Research Bureau

In the Laboratory Training School is a tiny office which is the scene of a great deal of work which is probably the most interesting and constructive on this campus, yet perhaps least known to the students.

This is the Bureau of Juvenile Research which is operated by the State Department of Public Welfare. The local office was opened in July and is in charge of Dr. Maurice Newburger. Work is done in cooperation with the Department of Speech and the local Reading Clinic. Children from twelve counties in this area are examined, being referred to the bureau by teachers, ministers, parents, doctors, nurses, or anyone having an interest in the child.

The bureau acts in an advisory capacity to judges in cases of delinquency. In cases of adoption wherein the home has been determined suitable, the bureau examines the child to determine if he is suitable for adoption.

The bureau is particularly interested in community problems. Representatives are sent to examine school systems and methods of teaching to determine inadequacies of teaching which may be a serious handicap to the community. Recommendations may lead to the establishment of special classes where the need arises.

Wartime has increased the necessity of this type of work, and be-

Ed Lautner Is Stage Manager For Next Production

Ed Lautner has been appointed stage manager of "The Man Who Came To Dinner," the University Players' next production. He will be assisted by Marjorie Groll and Jo Ann Simmons.

Problems present the greatest difficulties in the play, and they will be in the direction of Gerry Bircher and Ann Rohrbach. A mummy case of cockroaches, an imaginary octopus, and six penguins will appear in the play.

Dave Thompson will have charge of lighting effects, and Esther Hedberg will manage costumes. The technical director is Phil Miles. William Thompson is business manager.

Turn Over A New Leaf . . .

Now that the nine week estimates are a thing of the past, we can take time to make out new study schedules and turn over the proverbial 'new leaf.' Although the nine week grades were much better than university officials had hoped they would be, this is not a sign that any student can afford to coast the rest of the way.

The real job is just ahead! It must be kept in mind that the grades we just received were only 'estimates' of our ability and not actual grades. To those students flashing an array of 'A's' and 'B's', we only say this: You're off to a good start, don't slip backward. A simple twist of the wrist can make a student very sorry that he didn't put in those extra hours of study.

To those students with estimates of a lower calibre, we suggest this: Try harder next time. It's harder next time. It's much easier to do a little and obtain good grades, than it is to explain why those grades were conspicuous by their absence from your card.

These are not ordinary times. We are not ordinary college students. We are here for one purpose and only one purpose, that is to make ourselves more fit for the job that will aid our government in the war effort after we have received our diploma.

There is no place for the loafer in American colleges today. We are all here on borrowed time, and should make the best use of that time before we are called to our places in the field of battle, in machine shops, or on farms.

The choice is up to us! If we are in school to 'just get by', then we are not worthy to be called good Americans, for we are taking up the time of the faculty, spending money to no avail, and very likely taking up space that might well be used by some other student with a will to apply himself and a desire to learn.

Let's buckle down! Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition? Certainly, but right now our ammunition is education. Make every bit count!—DK

Surprise Your Family . . .

This afternoon those of us who are lucky enough will be on our way home. Home to parents who have missed us much more than we have missed them; home to a room in which we can relax; home to a Thanksgiving dinner prepared by Mother's busy hands. If things turn out as they usually do, we will be in the house ten minutes looking things over to see that they are in the usual good order, and then we will have the family car out of the garage and headed down to see if the old gang is at the hangout. This will continue all during our short four days stay. Oh, we'll see the family at meal-time, and maybe for a few minutes in the evening, but we'll be off having a good time, never thinking that our parents would like to see us too, and would appreciate our company much more than the gang.

Let's turn over a new leaf this year. Why not surprise ourselves by staying at home long enough to get acquainted with our parents again? They'll be interested to know what is happening here at school, and we can talk to our heart's content without fear of boring them. We could make this Thanksgiving very happy for the two grandest people in the world!—PS

BLANCHE LeBEAU

Have you heard the one about the soldier who was talking to his girl in the telephone booth until a big crowd came along and they had to get out?

Or the one about the deaf mute who had nightmares and broke his knuckles on the bed post screaming.

Skagamoo Shunk, of Bono, Ohio, who said, "Pardon me, Mrs. Astor, but that would never have happened if you hadn't stepped between me and the spittoon."

It happened in Minneapolis—A woman was standing on the corner waiting for a streetcar. It was raining cats and dogs. Pedestrians were dashing for shelter under store awnings. All of a sudden, the woman reached down, grabbed her dress and pulled it over her hat—like an umbrella. Just then a fellow walked up to her. "Lady," he said, "You're getting your legs all wet!" "I don't care," said the lady. "My legs are 50 years old. That hat's brand new."

A teacher once asked her class to name the 10 greatest men in the world. One boy turned in the following:
The New York Yankees.....9
Superman.....1

She: My face is my fortune.
He: well, never mind. The richest people aren't always the happiest.

Confused Passenger: "Let me off at the next stop, conductor. I thought this was a lunch wagon!"

First Mechanic: "Which do you prefer, leather or fabric upholstery?"
Second Mechanic: "I like fabric. Leather is too hard to wipe your hands on."

Insane Asylum Attendant: "A man outside wants to know if we have lost any male inmates."

Doctor: "Why?"
Attendant: "He says someone has run off with his wife."

She: If you try to kiss me I'll call my mother.
He: What's the matter with your father?
She: Oh, he isn't as deaf as my mother.

Thanksgiving Tip . . . Use Scrubbo and your gobblers won't be wobblers! . . .

A traveling salesman walked into a restaurant and ordered some rotten eggs, burned toast, and cold coffee. When the surprised waitress brought him his order he said, "Now sit down and nag me. I'm homesick."

For What Will You Be Thankful Tomorrow?

BY BEULAH KNAGGS

You haven't any reason to celebrate Thanksgiving this year, have you? Of course not!

You are either facing induction, maybe even before Christmas, or the one you love most is away from you, or soon will be. And things look pretty bleak.

But wait a minute. Are you sure that everything is so gloomy? Today you're going home, by train, bus, or maybe even by car. You're going to a warm, comfortable home, where there's good things to eat in the ice box. You'll be surrounded by congenial, lovable people, whose chief interest in life is you and your welfare.

When you go to bed, you go to sleep immediately. The sound of an airplane doesn't disturb you. You know it's a friendly plane that drops no bombs destroying your home and wounding or killing your family. As near as you've ever come to an air raid are these friendly dimouts we have around here.

When you are returning to Bowling Green, think about what you are coming back to. You're coming back to something many persons have never known. Remember that even here in America there still are many, many worthy persons who have not had the opportunity you are now enjoying.

Remember there are millions of people in America who have never thrilled to a Saturday afternoon football game, who have never danced on a Saturday night to

News of the Week:

Russians Stall Nazis; United Nations Gain

BY LEE MEISLE

The slumbering Soviet front broke into flame early this week as the forces of the sickle and hammer unleashed a powerful drive which was driving back the goose-stepping legions of Herr Hitler. The surging thrust of the Russian forces boiled from the ruins of besieged Stalingrad, under attack for three months. Smashing from the northwest and south of the city. Red Army columns drove the Teutonic divisions in broken flight across the frost-hardened steppes before Stalingrad. A pincers movement was rapidly developing, with its arms feeling out in an attempt to enclose the retreating Nazis.

15,000 Germans have already paid the supreme penalty, and 13,000 more have been captured as the greatest drive the Soviet forces have made this year develops. The counter-attack looms as a real threat to the Nazi army, with complete annihilation possible if the claws of the pincers close. At some points, the drive had already reached points 50 miles from Stalingrad.

The German thrust in the Caucasus remains stalled, with the grim threat of winter looming larger with every passing day.

AFRICA . . . The Anglo-American drive to complete control of the North African coast was roaring to a climax, as Allied and Axis forces girded themselves for a struggle at Tunis-Bizerte.

Strongly entrenched German and Italian defenders, cut off by land, are evidently determined to make a stand at this last remaining eastern Africa stronghold. With the Free French forces gaining in power, the Axis position in Africa now appears untenable.

The Fighting French smashed Nazi defenders at Gafsa, in Southern Tunisia, in a bitter fight. Dakar, long-disputed French-African port opposite the Brazilian coast, announced its allegiance to the Fighting French movement. Brilliant French leaders such as DeGaul, Darlan, and Fenard aid the Allies in their attempt to provide a possible second-front invasion center. American forces aiding in the operations had paid an estimated cost of 1900 men killed, wounded, or missing.

Meanwhile, Allied forces under Montgomery continued their pursuit of routed Nazi-Italian divisions in Libya. It was not clear as yet just where the Axis troops intended to make a last ditch stand. British troops clashed with Rommel's retreating rear guard at Agedabia, a point about midway across Libya, while another Allied column was reportedly making a thrust from the south in an attempt to cut Rommel's line of retreat.

THE FAR EAST . . . American naval forces prowled uncontested in the Solomons area after last week's smashing victory over the Nipponese sea forces. The Buna airfield was in the center of an ever-tightening ring of Allied troops, as MacArthur's Flying Fortresses hammered away at the Japanese. The troops of the Rising Sun were being pushed steadily back toward the sea in the face of this determined Allied thrust. It was reported that General MacArthur was personally directing the operation. Meanwhile, the American leathernecks in Guadalcanal continued their dominance over Jap defenders there. Renewed British air activity over Burma was reported, with English medium bombers ranging over military targets in the area.

ON THE HOME FRONT . . . An increasing wave of protest against nation-wide gas rationing resulted in the formation of a revolt bloc in Congress, determined to postpone gas rationing for 90 days beyond the December 1 deadline. A bitter fight looms between Rubber Administration Jeffers and the group of mid-western congressmen composing the bloc. An investigating committee is to work on the problem, with the issue still in doubt.

Ohio's Governor Bricker was the center of increasing conjecture concerning the presidential candidate in 1944. A "Bricker for President" movement has already been initiated.

DOROTHY ANN SALISBURY

RICHARD R. SMITH, x'44, has been promoted from the rank of staff to that of technical sergeant at Oklahoma City (Oklahoma) Air Depot where he has been on active duty since July. Smith is a member of the ordnance service squadron, newest establishment of the Air Service Command for the maintenance and repair of aircraft and the training of the air depot groups.

WALTER A. DORFMEYER, '39, has been accepted for training as an ensign at the Coast Guard school, New London, Connecticut.

CLARENCE COPELAND, x'42, writes: "I'm getting the Bee Gee News now. I don't have to pass it around. It just 'up' and floats off." Clarence's address is 4th Trg. Btry. C.A.S.D., Coast Artillery School, Ft. Monroe, Virginia.

HUGH NOTT, x'43, who was to have been editor of this year's Bee Gee News, is editing the Service School newspaper at Great Lakes Naval Training Station. Hugh writes that right now he wouldn't swap his job with any "of you poor unfortunate civilians who have to lie in bed in the morning and never get any nice beans for breakfast. I'm an instructor (assistant) in basic seamanship and navigation and the rest of my time I divide between my advanced quartermaster courses and editing the paper.

"At least I'm making more money than ever before in my life. Board and room are graciously donated by the Navy, so my salary is clear. If I live through this mess, I can retire at 23.

"The one drawback is that a sailor is simply not admitted to the "best" or even "better" homes and the type of girl that a gob can pick up is just that—a type. An evening can grow marvelously uninteresting after several hours of 'Jeez, I like sailors better than anybody. What's them stripes on your sleeve mean, Huh? Aincha gonna buy me a drink? Whassa matter, don't you like me? And don't get any ideas, mister, I ain't that kind of a girl, see?—Anyway, I'd give a months pay for a coke date at the Nest, even without the follow up."

Hugh considered himself lucky in most cases though. "The Communicado isn't much, as a newspaper, but it does keep up the morale to a certain extent, as well as giving me certain privileges not generally accorded to an enlisted man. ## New Conceptions Of Thanksgiving

BY GINNY DALTON

"Thanksgiving comes but once a year, and when it comes it brings"—well, just what does it bring?

Way back at the tender age of rompers, the tale of the Thanksgiving feast was pounded, by fair means or foul, into the vacuum of our little cranial cavities. We learned, with wide-eyed skepticism, how the Pilgrim fathers, having landed on the coveoldd rock-bound New England coast, established a settlement, harvested their first crop, and then set aside one day on which to give thanks for their good fortune.

Yes, everyone is in no doubt familiar with the above account, but the years between 1621 and 1942 have, alas, brought drastic changes in the individual significances of this happy holiday. So, nosing about the campus, as usual in quest of things unusual, we dug up such a variety of ideas on the subject, that we decided to record a few gems for posterity. (Or anyone else who'll read them.)

In answer to our query, diminutive Mary Helen Jaynes, bounced up from her typewriter and shouted wildly; "Dishes! That's all Thanksgiving day is, just one round of dishes after another!" We tried our timid best to comfort the poor girl, then folded our tent and stole away.

Mary Lou "Daisy" Shelton, having carefully weighed the matter with customary deliberation, arrived at the following bewildering conclusion: "Yep, Thanksgiving always reminds me of by-ppendices. Their un-scheduled "fall-opening" cheated me out of a turkey dinner one year!" Oh well, little brother probably copped both drum-sticks anyhow.

Approaching Lary Kuhl, "The Man" sighed wearily, smiled forlornly, and murmured, "Thanksgiving this year will mean nothing more than learning thousands of lines and stuffing myself." That last doesn't sound so bad, Mr. K.

Ginny Falknor added her distinctive bit to our already amazing collection with, "Thanksgiving is more or less just a stepping-stone to Christmas as far as I'm concerned!"

Ho-Hum, pass the turkey, Ma.

Why, we don't know, but Bob Hope seems to have need of the book "How to Make Love" when he goes sentimentally over Dorothy Lamour. ## Knitting Comes Into Its Own As The Holidays Draw Near Doodling, thumb twiddling, and such are definitely out this season, and knitting has again come into its own. Yes, it's the annual yen for yarn, with every little lass sitting around the Nest, in class, and even at the Clazel, murmuring "Knit . . . pearl . . . knit . . . pearl . . .", with tongue in cheek and eyes fastened to a bit of much entangled yarn that will ultimately become booties for Brother Bennie, or a snug pair of woolies for Aunt Alvina.

There's really nothing to this knitting thing and it's so inexpensive, my dear! Of course, there are little extras to buy, such as half dozen extra needles, knitting bags, books of instruction, crochet needles, and the like. They'll add up a bit, but you won't mind at all when you see the beautiful results of the lady in the Knit Shop who demonstrates.

And if your first muffler resembles a much-used bathmat, or the sweater's a little on the bar-

Anderson Five Scrimages With Former Stars

The basketball fans who have been regularly watching the Falcon basketball team getting in their pre-season licks were somewhat astonished last week to see five former Toledo stars of three years ago troup out on the floor.

Yes it was true, it was the same Charley Chuchovits, Al Alvarez, Pat Hintz, and Charley Cupp that carried Toledo to the top of the basketball world three years ago. Marshall Carlson, all-state player of two years back, rounded out the quintet.

The spectators were not privileged to see this formidable five play against the Falcons in a regulation game but the short scrimmage proved that the 1942 candidates were more than a match for the older men who were not quite in top shape.

Coach Anderson announced that the first team berths were still wide open. The strongest candidates appear to be as follows: Sophomores, Roger Phillips, who set the state tournament scoring record when playing with Cridersville, and Harley Ash from the local high school; Freshmen, Wyndol Gray, the ball handling wizard from Akron South; Joe Seigferd from Akron St. Vincent; Walt Blaterick, product of Akron Central; Bill Quallman, Toledo DeVilbiss star; Charles Givens, six foot six inch center from Mt. Vernon, and Bob Ransom, also of Mt. Vernon.

Holdovers from last year's squad are Captain Mike Kish, Wayne Bordner, Joe Fox, and Zip Sherman.

Don (Sid) Otten, six foot eleven inch center from Bellefontaine was particularly effective in the scrimmage against Chuchovits and Company. Sid is a transfer student from Michigan State and will be ineligible unless Bowling Green drops from the conference. He held the unusually high scoring Chuchovits scoreless, knocking every attempted shot down to the floor.

Coach Anderson has a little over a week to iron out the last wrinkles and present a smooth working quintet for the opener here next Friday.

The chief worry of the former Toledo mentor is that all the candidates were individual offensive stars in high school. Anderson built teams have always been noted for their speed and ball handling but above all Anderson demands team work. And it is a difficult job to mold stars who come from different schools into a basketball machine in the short practices held thus far.

However the team work and ball handling has been improving with each practice and a lot of the remainder of the practices will be spent polishing up the defense.

The fans will be treated to something new on December 9 when the Falcons take on both the Toledo Naval Training Station team and the Hillsdale College quintet for the first doubleheader in the history of the school.

Miss Eloise Barrick is in charge of the book store at the University. She has been promoted from assistant to succeed Miss Jessie McCombs, who has become secretary to Dr. Maurice Newburger, psychologist in charge of the campus branch office of the State Bureau of Juvenile Research.

Winter Sports Take Over Intramural Front

With the 1942-43 fall Intramural program drawing to a close, Gene Thomas, director of Intramurals, has announced the biggest winter program in the history of the University.

Instruction courses for the winter months will include swimming, handball, basketball officiating, bowling, dancing, fencing, boxing, wrestling, weight-lifting, and chess and checker playing.

"A new section of the Pre-Induction School of Basic Rifle Instruction will undoubtedly be held during the winter months," Thomas said.

"Another new feature of the program this year," said Thomas, "is the club division. This division puts on programs for clubs, churches, and school groups."

At the present time, 19 faculty members are regularly attending the "Faculty Physical Fitness Program." Plans are being made to enlarge the program to include the families of faculty men also.

Sports Briefs

BY ELMER BROWN

The chance of entering the National Intercollegiate Cross Country Championships at East Lansing was lost when it was found out that freshmen were not able to compete.

A doubleheader in basketball will be played at the local gym December 9. The first opponent will be the Naval Training Station of Toledo and the second, Hillsdale College of Michigan. It looks like a busy night. This is the first doubleheader in the history of the school.

Coach and Director of Athletics Harold Anderson will leave for Chicago in a few days to attend the All-Star basketball game between a team of some of the outstanding basketball players of the country and last year's National A.A.U. Champion. Bob Gerber, former Toledo University star, recently picked as the outstanding sports figure of the country, will captain the All-Star team.

Your reporter, who has seen all the Falcon games this past season, has attempted to pick an all-opponent team for the past season. This does not include the service teams that the Falcons have met.

The natatorium will be open every Thursday evening from 7:30-9:00 for the campus co-eds. Come out and learn how to swim! Bring your own cap and have your activity card signed by the doctor.

INTRAMURALS

The big contest between the Five Brothers and PiKA's for the volley ball and table tennis championship will be played off Dec. 2, at 7:15 p.m. This tournament has proven one of the most highly competitive contests in recent weeks. The Delhi's and Betas will also play their tournament the same night.

"He-man" students interested in wrestling can obtain their blanks at the intramural office. Bulletin boards containing pictures of wrestler's are now placed in the Well.

The next time you're in the men's gym notice the attractive intramural bulletin boards in the lobby. Girls, maybe your favorite boyfriend's picture is among the candid shots.

Coeds can now take advantage of swimming each Saturday morning from 10 to 12.

Pray for Cold weather, ice skating fans. The IM department has arranged for supervised skating if Old Man Weather will just cooperate a little.

With the fall intramural program coming to an end, Gene Thomas, intramural director, announces that an even greater winter program is being planned.

"In fact we are now offering 57 different sports throughout the year, along with 38 instruction courses," Thomas said.

"We are not interested in individual stars, but in developing each individual fellow," continued Thomas. "We want every man to participate 100 per cent."

"Metal awards will not be made this year because of the war," announced Thomas, "but frame certificates and participation certificates will be awarded instead."

"Plans are now being developed to handle 35 to 40 intramural basketball teams this winter," Thomas said. "With this large group of teams, our facilities will be taxed to the maximum, but every effort will be made to take care of every team," added Thomas.

"If gas rationing effects the travelling habit of our students, we might even arrange to have intramural programs on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning," announced Thomas.

With the fall intramural program drawing to a close, Gene Thomas, director of Intramurals, has announced the biggest winter program in the history of the University.

Thomas placed particular stress on the fact that every man in the University is urged to participate in at least one sport. The idea is not to develop individual stars, he said, but to develop all-around men.

Falcons Close Season With Win Over Naval Team

Playing before a scant 400 fans in Falcon Stadium last Saturday, Bowling Green's Fighting Falcons defeated an aggressive Grosse Ile Naval Training team 19-7.

In the first period both teams failed to get their ground attack going and the ball was resting on the Navy's 27 yard line as the quarter ended.

On the first play of the second quarter the Cadet team was forced to punt to Red Lowery on the Bee Gee 9 yard line. Lowery scupped up the ball and zig-zagged 91 yards through the entire Grosse Ile team for the Falcons first score. Popovich tried for extra point, but it was wide.

From here until the final play of the second quarter the Grosse Ile team tried again and again to reach pay dirt, but they failed and the Falcons left the field leading 6-0 at half-time.

Grosse Ile opened the third quarter by marching 76 yards for a score without losing the ball. It was Grosse Ile's great fullback, Riordan, that plunged over for the score. Lorenz then booted the extra point which placed the cadet team in the lead 7-6.

Late in the third period the Falcons climaxed a 49 yard drive for a touchdown as Danny Marazon unleashed a deadly passing attack. It took just four plays to score a Marazon to Bordner pass which was good to the Grosse Ile 1 yard line as the third period ended. On the first play of the fourth quarter Marazon slipped through tackle for the score. Popovich kicked the point, and Bowling Green took the lead 13-7. With less than three minutes to play, the Falcons recovered a cadet fumble on the visitors 39 yard line. On the first play Hall made it a first down on the Grosse Ile 29. Marazon then uncorked a beautiful 24 yard pass into the waiting arms of Bordner on the five yard line who carried the ball the remaining yardage for the final Bee Gee score. Popovich missed the extra point. The final score reading Bowling Green 19, Grosse Ile 7.

Captain Ralph Quesinberry, Steve Randolph, Bob Eckert, and Lowell Sielschott, all seniors, played their last game for the Orange and Brown, and were given a great ovation from the fans as they left the gridiron for their final game. All played a great game.

Marazon and Bordner kept alive their chances for All-Conference honors with their stellar play.
